SUSSEX PUB SCRATCHINGS

News of new developments and updates on the Sussex pub scene will be gratefully received by the Editor for consideration in Scratchings. The standard disclaimer on p16 applies to all items.

Since Boxing Day 2020 Sussex has been in a Tier 4 lockdown, with pubs only permitted to do takeaway of food and non-alcoholic drinks and/or deliveries of food and/or alcoholic drinks including beer in sealed containers.

Many pubs which had been offering takeaways or deliveries prior to the current Tier 4 restrictions, have continued to do so, but many have concluded that the Tier 4 restrictions are too strict.

One specific update is that the Anchored in Sussex shop, which was in the 15:17 store in the former Beales in Worthing, closed in January 2021, but the same range of bottled and canned beers, cider, wine and gin, all from local (Sussex) producers, are available from the Anchored in Worthing micropub on an off-sales basis.

The following pubs (and off licenses) are believed to be currently offering food and/or beer for delivery and/or food for takeaway. Please see the pub's website/Facebook for more details. Please note that the situation for most pubs is likely to be dynamic, and pubs may change the service they are offering at short notice, and therefore please check on the pub's website and/or Facebook page for the latest information.

This list of pubs (and off licenses) offering takeaway/deliveries, including links to website and/or Facebook page, can also be found at pubsinlockdown.

Information here is generally supplied by the Brewery Liaison Officers (BLOs) named at the end of each report. The Brewery Liaison Coordinator for the Surrey, Sussex and Kent Area is Peter Page-Mitchell. A complete list of the breweries operating in Sussex, and their contact details, can be found at breweries on the Sussex branches website.

The brewery is continuing with bottle beers sales, mostly to real ale fans. We double drop the beer after conditioning and produce a clear ale without adding gas. It has a head no fizz and tastes like a real ale should. The Kings Head will be open 5.30 - 7.30 Wednesday to Saturday in this current lockdown for take away food and drink call and collect 01825 840238. A mixed case of bottles 12 for the price of 10 = £25.00.

The brewery have suspended brewing for cask output due to national lockdown but are brewing for their canned product still.

The brewery's traditional recipes are being tweaked to bring them up to date - in particular the West Coast IPA and Sussex Best Bitter have both been improved. A new milk stout has been produced in cans only as a replacement for the previous oatmeal stout. Other new canned offerings include a Sussex Haze 4.5% IPA and a powerful 8% DIPA. Off-sales and deliveries are still available from the brewery during this lockdown.

The big news is that the brewery is relocating to part of the malthouse for the old South Downs Brewery in Lewes. The new, larger premises will also include a taproom and permanent Mexican street food kitchen. It is hoped that the move will be complete sometime in the spring. In the meantime, several new beers have been introduced, including Pixel Party, an 8.5% DIPA produced in collaboration with the PLAY Brew Company from Middlesbrough. At present, no cask-conditioned beers are produced.

With the third lock-down, they will not be brewing any draft beers, specifically cask, until pubs re-open. In early January they had some Plateau in cold store. As that has a long shelf life it is being sold to off-licences set up for draft sales.

As during the first lock-down, they are reverting to primarily packaging in can, with some key-kegs for those who can sell them. Early January saw the first packaging of fresh Arise, with optimised dry-hopping. And also the canning of Tomorrow, their first new beer of 2021 and full of US hop varieties. They also have a plan for releases in 750ml champagne bottles throughout this year. As ever, these will be bottle-conditioned. They are also planning some remote collaborations, whereby the beer is decided and formulated via zoom chats etc.

HAND BREW CO

Brighton

The brewery have commissioned their new 2000 litre brewery in Worthing in November 2020 which has allowed them to greatly grow production and move into canning for the first time with an onsite canning line. They have produced a variety of new beers including a coconut porter Milky Joe, a hazy pale, a collaboration with Cloak and Dagger Lobo and have had a brand redesign, collaborating with a Brighton based illustrator called Hello Marine. They are still brewing at the Hand in Brighton where they will brew all of their small batch and special beers and currently have two special lagers in the tanks due for release in February. Obviously the pandemic hasn't been an ideal situation for them but have been grateful for the support received from consumers both locally and nationally. They had hoped to open the onsite taproom in Worthing by now but are currently just operating a pop up takeaway beer shop every weekend. Once able to open fully they will be offering on site brewery tours & beer tastings and are currently offering online beer tastings in Jan, Feb & March which can be bought through the webshop at www.handbrewco.shop.

BLO Peter Mitchell

Lewes

With the third national lock-down, 2021 is expected to be challenging. Brewing continues, albeit at significantly reduced capacity. They feel blessed with such tremendous support from their staff, suppliers and customers alike. The rise in home sales in 2020 resulted in the installation of a new filling plant to cope with demand for 5 litre kegs. Both Best Bitter and Old Ale are now available in that format and they are working hard to keep up with online and off licence sales. There are also plans to install a small canning line this year so they can package all beer in-house and reduce contract packaging costs. With the new lock-down, they have had to pause their customer-facing activities for the safety of their team and the public. These include the closure of the brewery shop and the disabling of their online customer collections until further notice. They will review the reopening of those facilities as soon as is feasible.

Their packaged products; bottles, cans, mini-kegs, polypins, wines, and merchandise, are available online, with a range of local and national services for delivery.

They will also continue to sell to Trade, as before, and they hope the Government will reverse their decision so that pubs can sell beer in takeaway sealed containers. They can be contacted via email at shop@harveys.org.uk and will endeavour to answer enquiries as soon as possible. They can be followed via their social media channels, website and email for the latest updates.

Demonstrating confidence in the future, January saw them sending 540 pints of their 2020 Christmas Ale to be made into their scrumptious Christmas puddings for the 2021 festivities.

KISSINGATE

Gary and Bunny maintained a very busy schedule throughout lockdown by providing a choice of up to ten cask and nine bottled beers for either takeaway or home delivery. Kissingate's takeaway counter enabled customers a safe way to buy beer, cider and also take home freshly made savouries and cakes from the brewery kitchen. High demand for home deliveries in the Horsham and Crawley areas presented new challenges to the business. A double mash imperial stout Raisin the Bar 12% was served alfresco on Saturday 4th July in celebration of pub openings. For now the Kissingate team are happy to serve drinks and food for takeaway and delivery to some local towns but have made the decision not to open the brewery taproom until further notice.

Let me tell you a story

By Bob Barton

Like most CAMRA members, I don't just go to the pub for a decent pint. I also love the conversation with friends and strangers, being able to relax in a hub of the community and, most of all, I enjoy discovering stories. This led me to wonder--if they could talk--what stories would pubs tell about themselves and their locality? I've attempted to answer that question in my book Unusual Pubs, Amazing Stories. The result is a pub guide with a difference, featuring 120 hostelries you can visit all over Britain, Covid-19 lockdowns permitting. There are stories from folklore and history, tales of notoriety and celebrity—such as John Lennon's student local and a pub once owned by the Kray twins—and lots more.

Interior of Rye Waterworks Micropub, showing brick surrounds for soup vats, now being used for seating!

East and West Sussex seem to have more than their fair share of these 'pubs with stories'. In my view, the Sussex concentration of unusual ones is beaten only by Greater London. More than anything, it's my annual visit to the South Downs Beer & Cider Festival, talking to CAMRA members there, that has inspired me to seek out these gems. Among those featured in the book is the Rye Waterworks micro-pub which, aside from having eight excellent ales when I visited, has a story you couldn't make up. How many other pubs have had previous lives as a pump-house, public toilet, antique shop and—most poignant of all—municipal soup kitchen?

I have used the cosy Fountain Inn at Ashurst to illustrate Hilaire Belloc's 1912 book 'The Four Men - a Farrago'. Written by the man who said "when you have lost your inns, drown your empty selves for you will have lost the last of England", it's a marathon pub crawl on foot across Sussex. Combined with a moral illustrating how an individual changes through life. Like Belloc, I left the Fountain (after pints of Bedlam Golden), feeling happy, carefree and up for a hike to the next pub.

Hastings is full of great hostelries. I chose to write about the Stag Inn in the Old Town (apart from the fact it's so historic) because it is a focal point of the annual Jack-in-the-Green festival. Two mummified cats on display were originally entombed there, it is said, by medieval 'witch' Hannah Clarke, who was, like Jack, quite a character. While chatting with the flower-garlanded staff, I was able to sample a pint of Shepherd Neame's Jack-in-the Green as well as the brewery's fruity, complex Bishops Finger.

Many licensees have been very helpful with my research. At the Red Lion in Hooe, over a pint of Harvey's Sussex Bitter, the landlord allowed me to leaf through an album overflowing with historic papers. He told me about the smuggler gang that holed up there in the 1750s and had a 'wild west-style' fight with Customs men. So intimidating were they that the officials were forced to retreat. At the Tiger Inn, East Dean, it was a fellow customer who enlightened me. He made me realise what a fool I had been walking on the nearby snow-covered cliffs. Never was a pint of Long Man Long Blonde more restorative as that day.

Thankfully, my research for the book was completed before the first lockdown. But I can't wait to return to Sussex to re-visit these places and find more pubs to write about. Unusual Pubs Amazing Stories by Bob Barton is published in hardback by Halsgrove. More details:

Chris Wright

We were all saddened to lose our good friend Chris Wright just before Christmas 2020. First and foremost, Chris was a very proud and loving family man. In particular his wife Jenny, 5 children, 14 grandchildren, and 10 great-grandchildren. A man who lived life to the full, he was a faithful friend; he was also an explorer, scientist, and sportsman, with a thirst for knowledge.

He was a very active member of our CAMRA branch, which included assisting at numerous Yapton Beerexes, and being a Brewery Liaison Officer. His company was enjoyed on the many social trips and beer festivals that we went to. He had many friends in the branch and fully shared our love of good quality real ales.

He was interested in the technical side of brewing and was the first from our branch to attend a CAMRA course on learning about the cooling equipment. Along with Pete Brown, he planned and fully implemented the first beer cooling system at Yapton in 2017. One of his other achievements was to build a tiny, operational, full mash brewery in an outbuilding in his garden. He helped in several IT tasks for us.

Although in recent times we knew Chris had some discomfort, he was always the same cheerful, happy, friendly, lovely man. Our Social Secretary has suggested that our first beer trip in 2021 should be named "The Chris Wright (In the Afternoon) Memorial tRIP", which I think Chris would appreciate.

Personally, every time I go down the Inglenook, I will raise a glass to him.

Lovely Jubbly! as Chris would say.

Lester John Peart 11/09/1931 – 08/01/2021

the Sussex Beer & Cider festival in its early years and heavily involved in Yapton Beerex and before that at the CAMRA beer tent at the “Southern Counties Historic Vehicle Preservation Rally” at Ardingly. He was also a very knowledgeable pub historian especially in and around Chichester.

Lester was a great raconteur who could tell great tales of his experiences in the RAF and on the racing circuit and of the pubs he had been in and the people he had met.

Some of his friends have ben reminiscing about Lester’s tales and recall the occasion of a visit to the Smack Inn, Whitstable in May, 1993 (it sold so much Shepherd Neame, Master Brew that it had two handpumps serving it, at any-one-time). Lester spotted a local “good-old-boy” and sought to engage him in conversation. Much to his surprise and to the amusement of the landlord (and his friends) Lester couldn’t get a word in as the local monopolised the conversation. Not a common occurrence!

His family and friends in BLOSSOM (Bottom left Of Sussex, South Of Midhurst) will miss him greatly but be glad to have known one of life’s true companions.

Cheers! Until we meet again Lester – oh! and by-the-way, it’s your round!

Philip Wildsmith

Hon President. Western Sussex CAMRA

I got to know Lester after the local branch was formed in Chichester in 1974.

Lester was a former RAF mechanical engineer who had worked on the Avro Shackleton (a development of the Avro Lincoln, itself a development of the famous WW2 bomber the Avro Lancaster) and later became motor racing mechanic.

Lester was one of the founding fathers of CAMRA in Sussex; the third Chairman of Western Sussex branch (then known as Chichester & Bognor branch); a stalwart of

Bill Layton

When CAMRA set up the website which has details of all pubs and their beers, Bill undertook to visit all the pubs in Hastings and St Leonards to collect their details. His bus pass had plenty of use and he did an excellent job much of which has remained little changed today.

Having completed that task he announced that he was 'retiring' from 'active service' and would meet up with the other members only when they visited his favourite Tower and other nearby pubs. We marked the occasion by presenting him with a certificate to 'Bill Bldy H*rv*y's Layton' at a social in the Tower and buying him drinks all evening.

Bill was BLO for a brewery no longer in existence based in Battle called Fallen Angel, mostly producing bottled beer sold at markets, etc., (nothing to do with current Battle Brewery).

The Tower will not be the same, Rest in Peace, Bill.

Bill Layton of St. Leonards died at the end of October, Bill had been an active member of CAMRA who until he could no longer make it was always to be found offering assistance at beer festivals. He was a bar manager at the inaugural Eastbourne Beer Festival in 2002, his comprehensive knowledge of beers proving an asset. The CAMRA policy to allow tasters at beer festivals appalled Bill, he would say, 'We are here to sell the stuff, not give it away'. He had strong views about which beers and breweries he liked, which earned him the nickname 'Bloody Harvey's'.

Martyn Apps

Martyn Apps of Bexhill died on the 21st November.

Martyn was a good friend of CAMRA, of the Albatross Club in Bexhill and to many members of each, being a loyal and hardworking member of both. Nobody who witnessed them will ever forget his idiosyncratic performances in running the meat raffle at the Albatross Club or seeing him proudly welcoming people to the Club, particularly at beer festival time.

For CAMRA he was a fixture at Eastbourne Beer festivals where his knowledge of a wide range of beers was much appreciated and he was a regular at the setting up and taking down times. His down to earth approach was always characterised by an attitude of 'just getting the job done'.

We will all miss you Martyn, Rest in Peace.
